PREFACE.

PREFACE,—what is a preface? The historical signification is, said before. It is most generally used as a title or heading to matter prefixed to a book, but not necessarily forming or constituting a part of it—to matter which might, often perhaps, with equal propriety, be entitled a chapter for buncombe. Many will consider ours just such a one. We intend, (if we can), to write one to suit ourselves. We compile and publish the work for the benefit of the public—we write the preface for our own. But while we profess to publish the Directory for the public benefit, we have a right, and we expect that the citizens will support us in the undertaking if they wish to derive the benefit arising from its use. There are many citizens who, being strangers to the use of such a work, cannot appreciate it, and, as a matter of course, we cannot expect them to support our first issue. This prejudice we expect our first issue to do away with, and for our next annual issue we shall at least hope for the united support of our fellow-citizens. Our issue at this time will not be so complete and definite as we could wish, in consequence of so many persons being prejudiced against it, and and considering it rather a superfluous work; many actually refused to give us their names. Many could not tell on what street they lived, and one individual—one of the proprietors of an establishment, where there are some forty or fifty hands at work, refused them time to give us their names and residences. Imperfections arising from this cause, of course, cannot be regarded as our fault. Some persons refused to give either their names or residences through fear of having taxes to pay; while others would assign no reason, but steadily refuse to give us any satisfaction. Because we happened to inform some lady that she was mistaken with regard to the nature of her husband's office, we were called on by her husband, and threatened to have a "dornic pounced off of our devoted head," an operation which we by no means relished, and tried to pacify the gentleman but could not, and had to allow him to go at large, breathing vengeance on us if we ever did so again. Such cases, we are happy to state, are few, or we would no doubt, long ere this, have been on an exploring expedition among the stars, or buried in oblivion, and covered deep by the anathema maranathas of persons made furious by such mistaken grievances.

But to the subject. A Business Mirror and City Guide is what we had designed to present before our citizens, one that, by a few moments' consultation, will give the inquirer an idea of the business of the city, and which, on application, will direct the stranger to his friend, or the citizen to his neighbor. How well we have succeeded we leave for our patrons to judge. We have labored assiduously and diligently to present to our patrons as complete an idea as possible of the business of the city on a whole, as well as to trace out and portray its various ramifications, and also to give to the stranger as favorable an idea as possible of its various local, business and social advantages. Hoping to appear before you with increased facilities another year, we courteously request the favorable consideration of an intelligent public.

INTRODUCTION.

IN presenting to the public a Directory of our young and flourishing City, it is expected, and is necessary, that we should give at least a short history of the city, its location, improvements and growth, to its present high commercial position.

Indianapolis was located and laid out in 1820, and incorporated January 6th, 1821. In October following, 314 lots central in the old plat of the city, were sold for $35,596. Lots which sold then for $200 and $300 would now readily command from $15,000 to $25,000. At the period referred to, the site was covered with dense forests, and for forty or fifty miles round, the country still remained in its pristine condition of an intrenched wilderness.

The original town plot was one mile square, but like all progressive cities, Indianapolis has over-stepped its artificial limits and extended itself on all sides.

Of late years it has become a chief center or terminus of Railroads, and is very appropriately termed the "Railroad City," and from its position is likely to maintain its ascendancy in this respect. There are several railroads now in course of construction in addition to the eight roads now in successful operation, pouring in daily their thousands of passengers, and conveying in merchandise, &c., to and from it the wealth of an empire.

It is also on the line of the great National Road, and from it diverge several McAdamized and plank roads pointing to all the important places within and beyond the limits of the State.

In manufactories, it has also made rapid progress, and at the present time has mechanics employed in every handicraft.

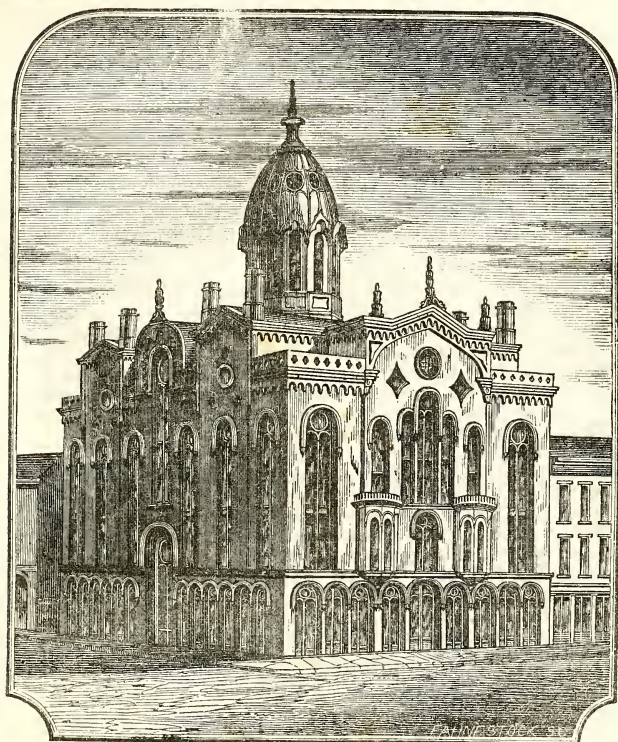

Few cities in the States north of the Ohio, indeed, have so excellent a prospect of future greatness, and there are those who wisely anticipate its becoming one of the prominent cities of the Great West in the number of its people, the amount of its trade, and in that enterprise which is so necessary to the fulfillment of all high expectations.

To give some idea of the rapid growth of the city, we give the population at the different periods from 1830 to 1855.

Population in 1830, 1,085 ; in 1834, 1,600 ; in 1840, 2,692 ; in 1847, 8,504 ; in 1855, 16,000, showing an increase in six years of almost 100 per cent.

The last enumeration, taken in July, '55, has been confined strictly to the corporation. Should we add to this the population of West Indianapolis, and all those on territory adjoining the city on the north, east and south, who are directly connected with the city in their business transactions, and looked upon as citizens; and add to this also the colored population, who were not enumerated, it would swell the number to about 20,000 souls.

CITY SCHOOLS.

The City have in successful operation a system of Free Schools under the control of a Board of Trustees and Superintendent.

There has been erected in each Ward a good brick building in which are kept the Ward Schools. These are large and comfortable buildings capable of accommodating from one hundred and fifty to two hundred pupils.

There is also, in addition to the Ward Schools, a Central High School, in which the higher branches of education are taught.

The pupils of this School consist principally of those who have gone successfully through the Ward Schools, and passed an examination, which is always necessary before entering this School.

HAYDEN'S MERCANTILE COLLEGE!

South-West Corner Washington and Meridian Sts.,
INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA.

JAMES C. HAYDEN, Principal.

Formerly Professor of Book-Keeping and Penmanship in BACON'S
MERCANTILE COLLEGE, Cincinnati, Ohio.

JOSEPH B. HAYDEN, First Assistant.

RE The Male and Female Departments of this Institution will hereafter be open for the reception of students ten months in each year, viz : From the first Monday in September to the first day of July ; and as students are taught separately, they may enter at any time, with the assurance that they will receive the undivided attention of the Principal, and be advanced in their studies as rapidly as their mental capacities will permit. An Evening Session will commence each year on the first Monday of October and continue to the first of March.

PLAN OF TEACHING:

Instead of merely copying Crittenden's Book-Keeping (the plan hitherto pursued in this city), students will be exercised in making original entries, of every day business transactions, as they actually occur in this city and in Cincinnati, and thus acquire a practical knowledge of Book-Keeping and a habit of self-reliance which never can be acquired by the use of text books alone.

COURSE OF STUDY:

The Course of Instruction will consist of Double Entry Book-Keeping, embracing every department of trade and mercantile accounts, viz : Wholesale, Retail, Exchange, Banking, Domestic and Foreign Shipping, Steamboating, Manufacturing, Joint Stock and Compound Company Business ; also Single Entry Book-Keeping, Commercial Calculations and Commercial Law.

TUITION : Male Department, $25 ; Female Department, $15, in advance—Diploma $3.

RE Good boarding can be obtained for $2.75 per week. A full course may be completed in from eight to ten weeks.

S. A. FLETCHER, JR., Superintendent.

INDIANAPOLIS, PITTSBURGH & CLEVELAND R. R.

Between
Indianapolis,  Pittsburgh &
Cleveland.

This road was opened to Cleveland and Pittsburg in the Summer of '53, and has established a HIGH CHARACTER WITH THE MERCHANTS AND SHIPPERS OF THE WEST. Its facilities for the transportation of Freight and Live Stock are superior to any other line, being of UNIFORM GAUGE with the Lake Shore and Ohio and Pennsylvania Roads, thereby saving time and damage which always occurs in reshipping.

In MOTIVE POWER and CARS the Company have abundant resources, which are being further extended to meet the demands of the SOUTHERN and WESTERN TRADE. In DESPATCH and REGULARITY of transport of Property, this Road CHALLENGES A COMPARISON WITH ANY OTHER LINE. At Cleveland the Road connects directly with the

Lake Shore Railroad

And the various LINES OF STEAMERS, thereby SAVING to the Shipper any Commission or Drayage.

FREIGHT AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE!

Freight for this Route should be Marked Via I. P. & C. R. R.
S. A. FLETCHER, Jr., Super't.

INDIANAPOLIS & CINCINNATI RAILROAD!

STORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE

Between Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT TRAINS RUN THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGING CARS!!!
AN ADVANTAGE POSSESSED BY NO OTHER ROUTE!!

Freight Carried Through as Cheaply and Twenty-Fours Quicker

THAN BY ANY OTHER LINE.

T. A. MORRIS, President.
N. M. ROSS, Super't.

INDIANA CENTRAL & DAYTON & WESTERN R. W.

Great Eastern and Western United States Mail and American Express Route.

Passing through Knightstown, Cambridge City, Richmond and Dayton.

Connects at Richmond with Eaton and Hamilton R. R. for Cincinnati, and at Dayton connects with trains for Xenia, Columbus, Zanesville, Wheeling, Baltimore, Washington City, Philadelphia, Crestline, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York, and Boston. Also for Springfield, Urbana, Bellefontaine, Forest, Fort Wayne, Toledo, Clyde, Sandusky City, Detroit, Troy, Piqua, &c.

CONNECTIONS.

At Dayton with Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton R. R.; Dayton, Xenia and Belpre R. R.; Mad River and Lake Erie R. R.; Dayton and Michigan R. R.; at Xenia with Little Miami, Columbus, Xenia, Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati R. R.; at Columbus with Central Ohio and Baltimore and Ohio R. R.; at Crestline with Ohio and Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania Central R. R.; at Springfield with Springfield and Loudon R. R.; Springfield Mt. Vernon and Pittsburgh R. R.; at Forest with Ohio and Indiana R. R.; at Clyde with Cleveland and Toledo R. R., and at Sandusky and Cleveland with Lake Steamers for all points North East and the Canadas.

This presents one of the most attractive, as well as speedy and comfortable routes diverging from Indianapolis, and passes through a country second to none in the Great West in point of improvements, fertility of soil, beauty of scenery, and wealth and enterprise of its population, and connects the Capitals of the two great States of Indiana and Ohio by the shortest and most direct Railroad Line.

Connections Closely and Promptly Made.

FARE SAME AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE FROM INDIANAPOLIS.

North Western Agency

FOR SALE AND LOCATION OF LAND WARRANTS AND THE ENTRY OF LANDS.

The undersigned (Brothers) have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of acting as Agents and Attorneys for others, in making selections and entries of Government Lands, and in selling and locating Land Warrants in the North-Western States—more especially in the State of Iowa.

In offering their services to those who may be interested in Land Warrants or desirous of entering lands, they would say that with their knowledge of the country, the direction of Internal Improvements, and the sections of country to which the greater amount of emigration is tending, the undersigned feel confident in their ability to make as good, and in most cases, better selections for parties than they can for themselves, and thereby save them the expense of a journey, loss of time, and much of the expense necessary for making surveys when only a small quantity of land is to be entered.

Charges for making selections and Locating Land Warrants, and to cover Land Office Fees, will be as follows:

For Locating 40 acre Warrants and for Office Fees,	$5.00	For Locating 120 acre Warrants and for Office Fees,	$10.00
80 "	8.00	160 "	12.00

The above amounts must always accompany the Warrants. A reasonable deduction on above rates will be made to those having a large number of Warrants located. Charges for making entries with cash, will be same as above, with the deduction of the Land Office Fees, ($1 for every 40 acres) charged by Office only in location of Warrants.

The undersigned will sell Warrants for a commission of 2 1-2 per cent. on proceeds of sales.

All communications and business directed to either of the undersigned, at their respective places of residence, will be promptly and properly attended to.

CIRCULAR OF THE BOARD OF TRADE

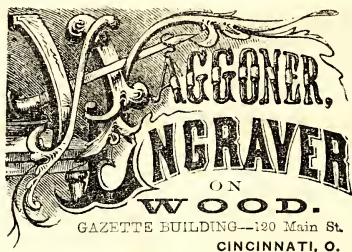

OF THE

CITY OF INDIANAPOLIS.

PERMIT US to call your attention to Indianapolis, the Capital of Indiana, as a manufacturing and commercial point.

Indiana contains more than 1,200,000 inhabitants. Her surface comprises 22,000,000 acres of very fertile soil, nearly all of it available for agricultural purposes, and the whole capable of sustaining an immense population. Her coal and iron fields, but little more than one hour's ride from this city, are of very fine quality and inexhaustible in quantity; the beds lie near the surface, are of easy access, and may be worked with great facility. The best varieties of timber are found in her magnificent forests, and the supply is equal to any demand whatever. Water power to an almost unlimited extent is furnished by her numerous streams, affording great natural facilities for manufacturing. Thus combining the elements of power and wealth, she invites capital and labor to employ and develop them.

Indianapolis is situated in the midst of this fertile region, being within five miles of the geographical centre of the State, and more than one hundred from any large city. Formerly its position was completely inland; but the completion of the Madison and Indianapolis Railroad, in the fall of 1847, marked a new era in its history. The population at that time was about 4,000, and the town possessed scarcely any manufacturers or trade. Now her inhabitants number near 16,000, and the hum of machinery in her rapidly increasing manufactories can be everywhere heard; eight railroads, comprising 1,500 miles of track, have been completed; seven roads, comprising 900 miles, are under contract, and rapidly approaching completion; and two roads, comprising 400 miles, have been surveyed, and companies formed to construct them. Of roads already finished, the

WM. W. WAGGONER,

Having succeeded Frasier & Dennis in the WOOD ENGBAVING Business, respectfully informs the citizens of Indiana and neighboring States that he is now prepared to execute on the most reasonable terms, and in a masterly manner, Cuts for Book Illustrations, Views of Machinery, Buildings, and Show Bills, in Fancy Colors, from the size of a hat top to that of a barn door, together with every other description of Engraving.

Bellefontaine, Central, Cincinnati, and Terre Haute are parts of the great central through routes (uniting at this point) from the eastern cities to St. Louis, now nearly completed, and destined to extend to the Pacific. We are thus placed directly on this great highway of the world, and here the commerce and travel of an immense region will be concentrated. Seventeen different railways, comprising 2,800 miles of track, and having twelve thousand miles of connections, directly centre here, making this point the greatest railroad centre in the world. They bring all parts of this and neighboring States within a few hours' ride of this city, and connect with all the important routes of trade and travel in the country. Railroads are revolutionizing inland commerce, and are turning trade and travel from their former channels; passengers and freight will soon be carried on them cheaper than on water; the points concentrating the greatest number will therefore possess the greatest advantages. In this respect we are unrivalled. Four plank roads terminating here have also been completed; these are essentially the farmers' roads. The city is improving with great rapidity. Capital expended in building, invested in real estate, and in all classes of manufactures, but especially in locomotive and car building, will yield large and certain returns. As a point at which to pack pork and beef, it possesses peculiar advantages. Great inducements for farmers exist in the central parts of the State—fine lands being still obtained at very reasonable prices. Mechanics of all kinds are much needed, and great numbers can obtain immediate employment. White River, Fall Creek, and the Central Canal furnish fine water power immediately on the borders of the city, which can be easily and successfully employed. Materials for extensive manufacturing enterprises can be obtained in abundance, as cheaply as at any other western point. Our climate is mild; our city and country healthy; provisions are cheap and plenty; and our facilities for transporting manufactured products and merchandise of all kinds, are unsurpassed. For these reasons we think this must soon become one of the principal manufacturing points in the country. Rapidly as our manufactures are increasing in extent, variety, and importance, they are yet unequal to the demand. In consequence of its unrivalled facilities for communication, it must also become one of the principal commercial and wholesaling cities in the west. As a place of residence it is very desirable, being located on a beautiful and extensive plain. The streets are broad, laid out at right angles, and well shaded. The public squares are large, and the city is adorned by a number of very fine public buildings. It is distinguished for its sobriety, and for the number of its churches and sabbath schools. It possesses a system of free graded schools, wherein all the youth of the city may obtain a good education ; besides these, a number of well conducted high schools and colleges exist. Other reasons might be mentioned, but we think the importance of the matter sufficiently obvious, and will close by earnestly requesting your aid in developing, at this point, the resources of the Giant West.
